Economic and Market Commentary December 2017

During the month of December, the two-year US Treasury yield rose 10 basis points (bps) to 1.88% and the benchmark 10-year Treasury yield remained unchanged from the November month end, at 2.41%. The much-anticipated tax reform legislation was passed by Congress, lowering the tax rate for corporations and many individuals.

As expected the Federal Reserve raised interest rates 0.25% for the third time in 2017 and the fifth of the hiking cycle. The median policymaker “dot” for 2018 suggest three more such rate increases in the year ahead. More interesting, policymakers foresee the unemployment rate hovering around 4.0% in 2018, 2019, and 2020. This is conservative – if US economic growth continues at 2.5%-3.0%, the unemployment rate should fall further.

The unemployment rate was 4.1% in November and firms added 228,000 net, new jobs to nonfarm payrolls over the month, marking the 86th consecutive month the US economy experienced positive job growth. Headline consumer prices, as measured by the consumer price index (CPI), registered at 2.2% year-over-year in November. Core CPI, which excludes volatile food and energy prices, printed at 1.7% compared to 12 months ago.

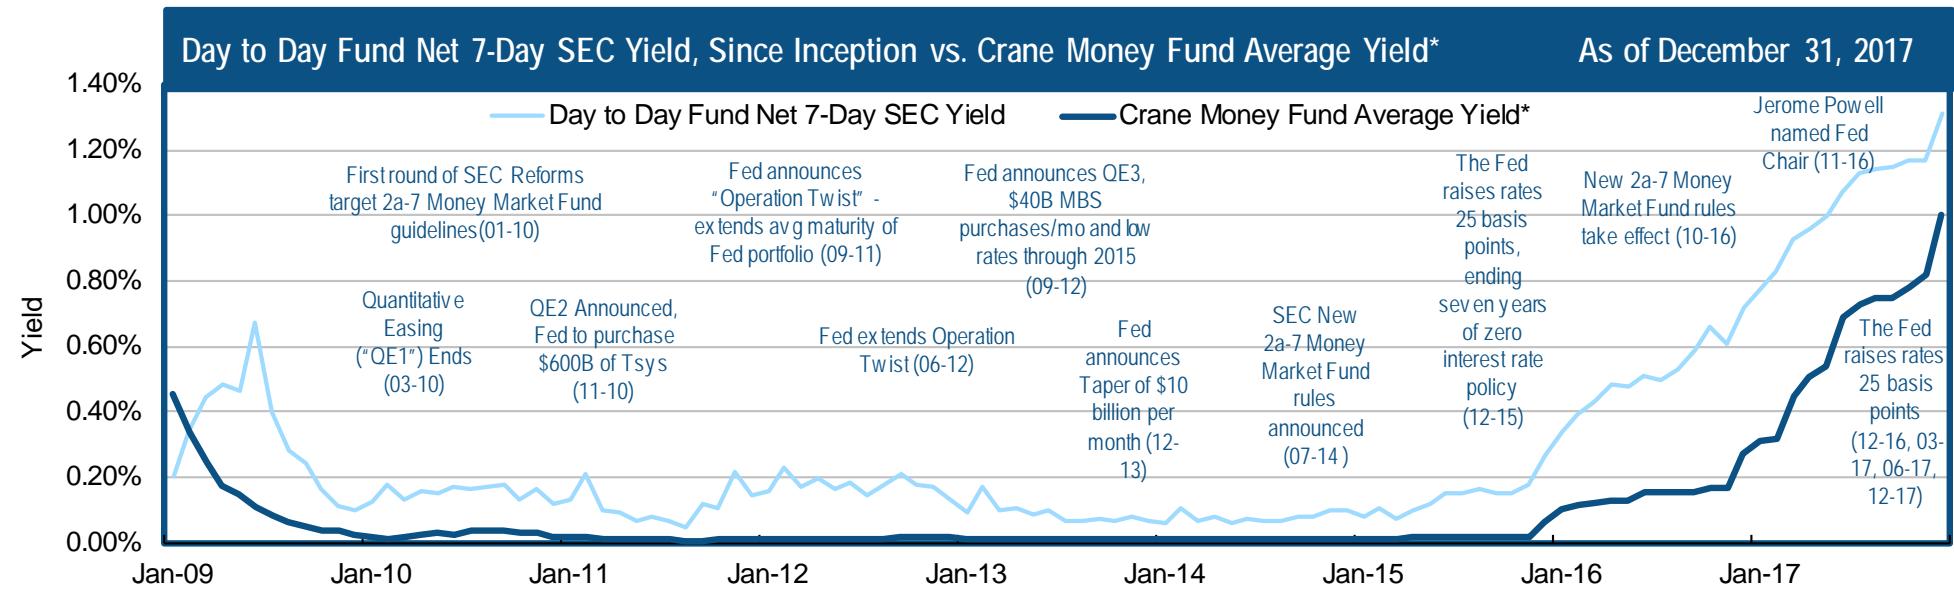

In addition to the US, central banks in Mexico and China raised interest rates during the month. The People's Bank of China raised its short and medium-term policy rates by 5 basis points to 2.5% and 3.25%, respectively, to counter robust domestic liquidity. Mexico's central bank hiked the policy rate 25 basis points to 7.25%. The tightening was in response to elevated inflation and NAFTA-related risks to the peso. Conversely, the European Central Bank left its interest rate unchanged, even as its new economic projections forecast strong growth for the 19-nation eurozone through 2020.

Florida Trust Day to Day Fund

The Florida Trust Day to Day Fund posted a total return of +0.10% in December, compared to the benchmark BAML Three Month Treasury Index return of +0.11%. The net 7-day SEC yield of the Day to Day Fund remained at 1.31% as of the end of December, up from 1.17% prior month end. We continue efforts to maximize portfolio yield, while still adhering to the strict investment guidelines required by S&P to maintain the AAA rating. We continue to evaluate high-quality corporate securities for the portfolio, and search for value in commercial paper and corporate notes that enhance yield and adhere to the guidelines of the fund, with a focus on liquidity.

We remain constructive on floating-rate securities as LIBOR continues to keep pace with short Treasury yields; US 3 Month LIBOR ended December at 1.69, up from 1.49 at November month end. During November, exposure to floating rate securities was approximately 33%; the portfolios holds floaters in corporate, agency, mortgage-backed, and Treasury sectors. Use of these securities allows addition of yield without extending interest rate risk, and they are beneficial to portfolios in rising interest rate environments.

The weighted-average maturity of the portfolio ended the month around 33 days. Repurchase agreements remain a significant holding, at 30% of the portfolio value at month end. Repo purchased for the portfolio, backed by US Treasury collateral, had a low of 100 bps to a high of 135 bps of coupon, with an average of 118 bps. The fund remains highly liquid with approximately 49% of the portfolio invested in overnight and short-term securities. Additionally, 48% of the portfolio is invested in government or government guaranteed securities, also enhancing liquidity. Net contributions were approximately over $77 million in December.
