Economic and Market Commentary May 2018

During the month of May, the two-year US Treasury yield fell six basis points to 2.43% and the benchmark 10-year Treasury yield fell nine basis points from the end of April, to 2.86%.

The unemployment rate fell to 3.8% in May and firms added 223,000 net, new jobs to nonfarm payrolls over the month. The overall economy's expansion, at 107 months in May, became the second-longest on record, trailing only the expansion of the 1990s in length.

Market views and policy maker expectations are more "in sync" now than at any time in the past three years. Over the past month, the market's estimate of the where the federal funds rate will be in December 2018 matched and then exceeded the median central banker's expectation, consistent with two more rate hikes in 2018. The market relenting to the Fed's view of the world has cascaded across global financial markets, pushing up longer term interest rates, inflation expectation and the US dollar. The Fed's Beige Book showed economic activity expanded at a moderate pace across most of the U.S. this spring, driven in part by a pickup in manufacturing activity.

The global growth synchronization theme witnessed earlier this year dissipated in May. Germany's annual growth rate slowed to 1.2% from 2.5% in the final quarter of 2017, due to high levels of illness and labor disputes. China reported weaker-than-expected investment and retail sales in April and a drop in home sales. Business activity in the eurozone slowed for the fourth straight month in May and more sharply than expected. Politics in Italy roiled world markets as two antiestablishment parties attempted to form a coalition government. The political turmoil caused short-dated Italian yields to spike. Given that over the last twelve months, the central bank (via the European Central Bank's asset purchase program) has been the biggest buyer of Italian government bonds, contagion seemed limited after the initial jolt. Talks to renegotiate the North American Free Trade Agreement reached a stalemate.

FL. Trust Short Term Bond Fund

The Florida Trust Short-Term Bond Fund posted a total return of 0.33% in May, compared to the benchmark ICE BofAML 1-3 Year Treasury Index return of 0.36%. Fiscal year-to-date, the fund returned 0.17%, compared to the benchmark return of -0.17%. The net 30-Day SEC Yield was 1.97% to end May. The Fund posted withdrawals of 50 million dollars in May. The fund is assigned Fitch rating agency's highest Fund Credit Quality Rating and Fund Market Risk Sensitivity Rating of AA+/S1. The fund discontinued the use of the S&P rating agency as March.

The defensive interest rate positioning of the Short-Term Bond Fund has been a key factor in its outperformance compared to the benchmark index during the fiscal year-to-date period, as front-end Treasury rates have risen considerably, the two-year Treasury yield up a substantial 0.95% since 9/30/17. A favorable domestic economic outlook and strong corporate fundamentals continue to support allocations to non-Treasury/Government sectors for income advantage. Over the medium term, we would expect the NAV to remain under pressure as the Fed normalizes interest rate policy and higher Fed Fund rates are implemented. Over the medium-to-long-term, the portfolio will benefit from higher interest rates as income and coupon proceeds are reinvested in bonds at higher yields. Over time, income earned on spread sectors are expected to overwhelm negative principal returns from rising interest rates. Additionally, the fund holds an allocation to floating rate notes (16% of the portfolio as of 5/31), and these securities benefit from higher interest rates. Their coupons are reset higher relative to LIBOR indices that have continued to rise with short end Treasury yields. Moreover, floating rate securities do not introduce additional interest rate risk to the portfolio.

The Florida Trust Short-Term Bond Fund continues to hold a diversified mix of sectors for income generation. We search for opportunities to capture higher yields, while maintaining the highest credit quality rating. We continue to have a favorable outlook for short corporate credit, given the attractive yield advantage and strong underlying company fundamentals. Security selection is increasingly important. Evaluating the credit curve and identifying specific bonds offered by a given issuer with the most attractive risk-return characteristics is key to our portfolio construction. We also use an allocation of high-quality asset-backed and mortgage-backed securities (ABS/MBS) with short duration profiles for their yield and diversification benefits. These very short securities pay monthly and have limited interest rate risk. Finally, we look to non-US government-related agencies/supranationals for additional spread and as a diversifier to US government securities.
