Economic and Market Commentary August 2020

In the U.S., the 2-year Treasury note yield rose to 0.13% at the end of August from 0.11% at the end of July. The yield on the benchmark 10-year Treasury was 0.70%, up from 0.53% at the end of July. Corporate spreads continued to tighten in August and major equity indices again produced positive returns on the month. Gridlock continued in Congress on another round of stimulus, but 40 states have now applied for additional unemployment benefit funding authorized under the Trump administration's executive order.

This year the Kansas City Fed's famous Jackson Hole Economic Policy Symposium was open to the public for the first time. The keynote speaker, Fed Chair Jerome Powell, used the opportunity to unveil the FOMC's new monetary policy strategy - a flexible, average 2% inflation target. Under this new strategy, the Fed will tolerate a "modest" overshoot of the 2% inflation target for brief periods to allow average inflation to "catch-up" after periods of low inflation, prioritizing the pursuit of maximum, "inclusive" employment. What does this all mean for investors? The FOMC has hinted at changing its strategy for quite some time, so the announcement was not a surprise. Front-end rates will be low for a long time before the Fed even "thinks about thinking about raising rates." How long will that be? If the last cycle is any guide, it could be a while: despite historically low unemployment, inflation consistently trailed the 2% line.

The unemployment rate was 10.2% in July and firms added 1.7 million net, new jobs to nonfarm payrolls. August's nonfarm payroll employment rose by 1.4 million. In the household survey, which feeds into the unemployment rate calculation, employment posted a monster 3.4 million gain, enough to send the unemployment rate down to 8.4% from 10.2% in July. Jobs have bounced back quicker than any recovery ever witnessed. Of the 22 million jobs lost in March and April, 48% have been added back. But there is still a way to go before achieving full employment. Despite the robust job reports in recent months, we are 11.5 million jobs short of February levels. As well, the unemployment rate could also fall more slowly from here. As of April, 18 million workers were reporting that they were on "temporary layoff." Millions of those workers have returned to work. However, the number of workers on "permanent layoff" rose to 3.4 million in August. The number of permanently unemployed could move higher. Regardless, the bounce back in jobs is happening faster than anyone expected, even if we have a long way to go.

Globally, Purchasing Managers' Indices (PMIs) showed that service and manufacturing sector activity continued to rebound in August. The global composite PMI, a weighted average of both PMI measures, improved to a seventeen-month high of 52.4. The services sector PMI reading of 51.9 indicates the sector hardest hit by the pandemic is on the mend. While the services sector was not nearly as hard-hit in 2008 as it was during the COVID-induced recession, the services PMI only spent five months below 50 in 2020, compared to 14 months in the Great Recession. Similarly, the manufacturing PMI languished below 50 for 15 months in 2008-2009, while in 2020 it is already back in expansionary territory after just five months. The rapid bounce-back in services and manufacturing readings this month bodes well for second-half global growth.

FL. Trust Short Term Bond Fund

The Florida Trust Short Term Bond Fund posted a total return of +0.07% in August, compared to ICE BofA 1-3 Year Treasury Index return of -0.02%. Fiscal year-to-date performance for fund was +3.85%, compared to +3.55% for the index for the fiscal year beginning October 1, 2019. The net 30-Day SEC Yield for the Short-Term Bond Fund was 0.47% at the end of August, down from 0.63% ending July.

The Florida Trust Short Term Bond Fund holds a diversified mix of sectors for income generation. For the remainder of the year, our focus turns to identifying the most efficient sources of income for the portfolio, as we believe the income component of total return will be the key driver for overall portfolio performance. The Federal Reserve's corporate purchase programs provide strong technical support for credit allocations. Short duration corporate spreads (1-3 year) continued to tighten in August and remain only modestly wider versus December 2019 levels. We maintained a neutral duration position versus the benchmark of 1.9 years. Our focus remains to maintain liquidity and government allocations. We favor a modest allocation to agency mortgage securities for the portfolio as these markets will remain supported by Fed purchases. Consumer-related asset-backed securities also remain an important allocation as fiscal stimulus and lender relief programs are supportive for the sector.

The fund is assigned Fitch rating agency's highest Fund Credit Quality Rating and Fund Market Risk Sensitivity Rating of AA+/S1. The liquidity of the fund is very strong, with 50% of funds invested in Treasuries, agencies and government related securities. The fund received $88.2 million in contributions during August, which were fully invested.
